INDICTED POLICEMEN PLEAD GUILTY

TWO CINCINNATI COPS MAKE ADMISSION BEFORE COURT

Federal Judge Warns Against Perjury and Assuming Defiant Attitude Toward the Law and Courts Which are Merely Enforcing It—Declined to Continue Other Cases.

In accepting admissions of guilt from six of the 71 Cincinnati police officers and agents of nearby village "dry" courts named in the blanket indictments recently returned by the federal grand jury, United States District Judge Smith Hickenlooper issued a warning to other persons who might be guilty but expected to continue a fight for acquittal and "assume a defiant attitude toward the law and the courts which are merely enforcing the law."

Two former members of the Cincinnati police force, one of them a member of the detective "flying squad," and four former village liquor court agents thru their attorneys entered guilty pleas while Judge Hickenlooper was conducting a hearing on the technical objections to the indictments filed a week ago by attorneys for most of the men named in the bills. The six defendants were variously charged with conspiracy to violate the national prohibition law and accepting alleged "protection money."

"If anyone knowing himself to be guilty takes the stand and the court is convinced by this act and that the testimony given that the defendant has perjured himself, even if he be found innocent on that prejured testimony the court will order the defendant to answer to an indictment for perjury," Judge Hickenlooper said in a statement assuring clemency to the six men who had entered guilty pleas. He declined to continue the other cases on pleas of defense counsel that "the mind of the public is at this time inflamed against the officers and agents named in the indictments." Other demurrers to the indictments, pleas and motions of defending counsel were generally overruled by the court but the defense gained a slight victory when attorneys for the indicted men gained a promise from the government under direction of the court to file on Monday a bill of particulars setting out in detail acts with which the defendants are specifically charged.

Defense attorneys then argued that if the bill of particulars sought by them was filed by the government on scheduled opening of the trials on Tuesday, Judge Hickenlooper fixed the blame for delay on tardiness of defense in filing their motion and said the trial would begin Tuesday morning as announced.

Sentences of six former officers who plead guilty will be read after the hearing of others of the 71 cases, the court announced, intimating that the action was deferred because "it may be necessary to use some of you as witnesses and the court is advised some of you to have already testified before the grand jury."

ANNOUNCED A REAL ROUSER

Ancient Epistles in Possession of J. R. Florence—One Dated 1810.

In looking over some old papers a short time ago, Jonathan R. Florence, of North Court street, came upon some very interesting and ancient letters. One written by Felix Renick and dated at Malder's Hill, June 27, 1810, was addressed to Messrs. J. Renick & Wm. Lewis and is as follows:

"Mr. Pancake overtook us yesterday and I shall leave the cattle this morning. Mr. Pancake also says he must leave them in four or five days. I wish one of you to come on as soon as possible. At all events you must be with them by the time they get to the Ohio, which will be about the 4th of July. If you should not have your drove made up till you get to the Barrens, I have spoke to Wm. & Henry to give you any assistance you may stand in want of.

"I expect to go through Clark and perhaps make a purchase of some there, as I have not purchased any yet; but, too, W wish you to save one or two hundred dollars least I should get more than I should have money to pay for. Mr. Goff & several will have good lots of cattle there. They will come high, but I believe I would rather venture there than any cattle I seen in the Barrens.

"If I do not go through Clark, I will leave what money I have at Shanklins and wish one of you to go that way as your cattle will likely want a day's rest y the time you get there.

"No more, but I remain Yours &c. Another letter, not nearly so old, but of far greater importance was one written by Ezra Florence and dated at Circleville, June 26, 1848, and was addressed to Miss Mary Renick at Steubenville, Ohio.

This missive says in part: "Sarah has another fine boy and we call him Jonathan. He is one month old today and is a Rouser."

Notwithstanding the fact that he will be seventy-six years old on the 26th day of next month, Superintendent Florence is more of "A Rouser" now than he was then.

In a postscript to this same letter, the writer says: "Mary, you wanted to know if you could have your Dagari-type taken. You can, and here is some money and my consent with it."

Ezra Florence was the father of Elias and Jonathan Florence and he was a son of Colonel Elias Florence and a grandson of Judge William Florence, one of the first judges in Pickaway county and the last named lived to be ninety-six years old.

Mary was a daughter of Jonathan Renick, who had but two children, Sarah Florence Renick, wife of Ezra Florence, and Mary Renick, who died at about the age of twenty. At the time the letter was written, she and a sister of Ezra Florence were attending a school at Steubenville.

What is a "Tinker's Dam"?

A "tinker's dam," says the Kansas City Star, is a wall of dough or of soft clay raised around a spot which a plumber, in repairing, desires to flood with solder. The material of this dam can be used only once, and is thrown away after this very temporary period of usefulness. Hence the saying "not worth a tinker's dam," which either through a perverse humor or through misunderstanding has been converted into profanity by the addition of a final "n."

Fireproof

"You are sure that this metal filing cabinet is absolutely fireproof?" asked Biggs of the new furniture salesman.

"Absolutely, sir," replied the latter. "Why, do you know, sir, that one of our filing cabinets came safe and sound out of the big Spoof Bros. fire, although everything inside it had been burned to ashes?"—Everybody's Magazine.

"THE WAGES OF SIN"

BEING EXPERIENCED

BY FEED, "BARBER" KLINE WHO SHOT HIS PARAMOUR MRS. CHARLES IMMEL

And Was In Turn Shot Through Lung By Former Officer Willis Henn, Is In the Last Stages of Consumption In Ross County Tuberculosis Hospital.

Fred, "Barber" Kline, formerly of Yellow Bud, who some few years since separated the family of Charles Emmel, bringing the erring wife to Circleville where they resided in Pleasant street and who in a fit of jealous rage shot his paramour and was in turn shot through the right lung by Willis Henn who at the time was a member of the local police department, is, it is reported, in the Ross County Tuberculosis Hospital, suffering from the last stages of consumption which no doubt was brought about by the bullet wound and a year and four months he served in the Ohio Penitentiary, under sentence in Pickaway County Common Pleas Court, on his conviction of shooting the Emmel woman with intent to kill. The fatal malady developed last January since which time Kline has gradually been growing worse.

The above matter was brought to The Herald's attention by a trial set for hearing Friday afternoon in Justice E. C. Fricke's Court; the prosecuting witness was Mrs. E. F. Landon, of Chillicothe, a sister of Kline, who filed complaint against Mrs. Charles Emmel, her brother's paramour, charging her with obtaining property under false pretenses. Mrs. Landon was represented by Attorney Garrett Claypool, of Chillicothe, the defendant by Attorney Max C. Seyfert Jr., of this city. After the parties had assembled for trial in the Justice's court the suit was withdrawn at the expense of the complainant.

"The wages of sin" are being reaped by "Barber" Kline.

WAVERLY MINISTER IS VICTIM OF PNEUMONIA

Rev. Silas F. Smith, Father-in-Law of Rev. A. B. Cox and Rev. J. R. Bowser.

Columbus, April 4.—Rev. Silas F. Smith, aged 69 years, pastor of the United Brethren church in Waverly, Ohio, died at his home, Thursday, according to word received by relatives in Columbus. He had been ill only a few days with pneumonia.

A son, Harry Smith, lives on Ninth avenue, and Rev. A. B. Cox, pastor of Washington Avenue United Brethren church, and Rev. J. R. Bowser, pastor of St. Clair Avenue United Brethren church, are sons-in-law. Rev. Smith's is the first death in his immediate family, consisting of his wife and nine children. He held pastorates principally in the southern part of the state.

His home formerly was in Portsmouth, where a son-in-law, E. O. McCowen, is superintendent of schools. The funeral services were held in Portsmouth at 2:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon.

Earn While They Serve

While serving a two years' sentence at Atlanta, Ga., a prisoner invented a portable ice-making machine which is now being manufactured. Another convict devised a tool for making shoes and when he was released from the Maryland state prison he accepted a position at $5,000 a year with a shoe firm. A banker was able to build up a lucrative investment business that netted him $300 a day while in prison. A man convicted of the murder of a New York lawyer and sent to an asylum for the criminally insane nevertheless managed the investment of the $20,000 he possessed in such a way that it grew to nearly $250,000.—Popular Mechanics.

WHITE DIARRHEA.

Save Them

Ashville, Ohio, R. F. D. 1,
May 7, 1924.

Mr. Fickardt:—
I bought 400 chicks. Very soon the chicks began to die of WHITE DIARRHEA. My chicks kept on dying until I had lost 250 in two weeks.

At that time I had ten sick chicks and I really considered them as good as dead. I began to use your remedy with all my chicks, both well and sick. Eight of the sick chicks recovered and I have not lost any others since I began the use of Fickardt's Roup and Cholera Drops over a month ago.

I would have probably thought that the disease had run its course, if it had not been for the fact that those that were sick recovered; but seeing the sick ones get well has convinced me that your remedy cured them.

The time is passed when the measure of the value of a memorial is quantity. I hope the time has come when that measure is quality. I care not whether the material be marble or granite, its future will be measured by the character of the design. It is quality that has preserved for us the finest examples in painting and sculpture. It is quality that will stamp our imprint upon cemeteries of the future. Simplicity, correct lines and proportions and proper ornamentation are the real fundamentals. A design that is right, material that is lasting, and perfect workmanship, spells success for the future of this industry and the beautification of the cemetery. FOR THOSE WHO WISH TO TEACH

Questions Put to Applicants For County Certificates.

EXAMINATIONS HELD APRIL 4

Prepared by the State Superintendent of Public Instruction to Test the Mental Qualifications of Those Who Seek Positions as Teachers in the Public Schools.

Following is the list of questions as prepared under direction of the state superintendent of public instruction and submitted at the county examinations for teachers for elementary school certificates:

PRINCIPLES OF TEACHING.

1. Discuss the relation of interest to achievement.
2. To what extent may pupils be guided in the formation of habits?
3. Name and discuss briefly three purposes of the recitation.
4. What steps have been taken during recent years to professionalize the business of teaching?
5. Of what value is teacher-training?
6. What have you done during the past two years to improve yourself as a teacher?
7. Discuss the conditional promotion of pupils.
8. How are you meeting the legal requirements for the teaching of physical education?
9. What should be the relation between experience in teaching and advancement in position?
10. Briefly discuss one of the Reading Circle books for 1924-25.

AGRICULTURE.

1. Make a drawing of a farm garden, indicating the amount of space allotted to the different kinds of vegetables to be planted and state the time in the season for planting each.
2. State the relative advantages of fall and spring plowing in your locality.
3. Outline a plan for testing seed corn. What is gained by such testing?
4. Discuss the use of commercial lime. Describe the ideal farm home.
5. Give your estimate of the value of Farmers' Institutes to the communities in which they are held.
7. At what time of the year would you sow clover seed, timothy seed, alfalfa, wheat, oats, rye, buckwheat, turnips, peas, millet?
8. In what ways may the rural schools be helpful to the agricultural interests of their respective communities?

READING.

1. What opportunities for moral instruction are afforded by the reading recitation?
2. Discuss the relative importance of oral and silent reading in the lower and upper grades.
3. What practical lesson would you seek to draw from a class recitation on The Great Stone Face?
4. What relative importance do you attach to the mechanics of reading as compared to reading for information, for inspiration or for pleasure?
5. To what extent do you use dramatization in the reading class?
6. To what grades is The Village Blacksmith adaptable as a reading lesson? How would you teach it in your grade?
7. How do you provide variety in the manner of conducting the reading recitation?

AMUSEMENTS

Admirers of Ramon Navarro will have the opportunity to see their favorite in a new kind of role when "The Red Lily," a Metro-Goldwyn picture comes to the Met theater on Monday for a run of two days. He will appear not only as a lover, but also as an apache of the Paris slums—a youth who has allowed himself to lose all self respect and gone to the dregs of society.

Navarro has lately come to the fore with great rapidity. His popularity has increased tremendously inside a year. Following the splendid impression he made of Rex Ingram's "Scaramouche" he played in "Thy Name is Woman" for Fred Niblo and then returned to Ingram in "The Arab." Now comes "The Red Lily" which was written by Niblo himself and which promises to eclipse all of Navarro's previous efforts.

The cast also includes such favorite players as Enid Bennett, Wallace Beery, Frank Currier, Rosemary Theby, Mitchell Lewis and many others. Bess Meredyth made the film adaptation. "The Red Lily" is a Louis B. Mayer presentation.

Early English Toll Road

The first English toll road led from St. Giles-in-the-Fields to the village of Charing, now central London. It continued from Charing to Temple bar and, turning, went along to Perpoole. Parliament authorized the levying of the first toll on this road in 1346.

Kiln-Dried Spanish Cedar

There is no reason why Spanish cedar could not be kiln-dried successfully, though it is more difficult to dry thick slabs than it is inch boards. The trouble is to avoid "case-hardening"—i. e., drying the surface before the moisture has been driven from the heart, which causes it later to check and crack very badly as the inside moisture breaks its way out, says a contributor to Adventure Magazine.

The slabs would have to be put in the kiln and subjected to steam until all the moisture was vaporized; then the steam must be gradually replaced by hot, dry air.

But it seems to me there would be no special object in placing the wood on the market in slabs rather than in squared logs. Nearly all Spanish cedar is utilized for cigar boxes, etc., in very thin boards, which are made by the sawn-veneer process, where the thin sheets are cut by extremely thin-gauge circular saws. Some is produced by slicing from a thick flitch which has been steamed. In either case the manufacturers want a thick flitch or square, so as to avoid the delays of mounting and demounting from the carriage. There is also less waste from using thick slabs than from thinner ones.

Farm Grows Walking Sticks

In Europe, naturally grown walking sticks or canes are more popular than in America and to attest this fact there is the walking stick farm located in Surrey, England. Here an entire farm is devoted to growing sapling ash and cherry for the manufacture of canes and umbrella sticks.

GOVERNOR'S REASONS FOR VETO OF LAW

Says Question of Such Great Importance Should be Submitted to People.

Columbus, April 4.—(U. P.)—Governor Donahey vetoed the gasoline tax bill today.

The veto message was the longest the Governor has ever written. It went into every detail of the measure branding it as a "misshapen, unscientific hodge-podge and a bill of deception and trickery."

"I am not opposed to the principle of a gasoline tax when the actual necessity for it arises," Donahey said, "but it must be a fair and equitable law."

"This bill is against the interests of the mud-bound communities of the state, which need help instead of another contemptuous jolt."

Donahey gave these seven reasons for his veto:

1. That he had pledged himself to resist any new indirect tax legislation.
2. That a question of such great importance should be submitted to the people.
3. That if the gasoline tax is enacted the price of auto license tags should be reduced to a nominal sum. (The Brown bill reduces license tags 50 per cent.)
4. That the Brown bill creates another "army" of state employees—collectors auditors and other employees.
5. That the entire revenue of such a law should go to the state highway department.
6. That the bill has been misrepresented as a panacea for highway ills, although it will exact from the farmers more property taxes than ever before for highway improvement.
7. That instead of helping the farmer the bill works to their disadvantage and to the benefit of the hard-surface material manufacturers of the state.

How Profit Is Found in Bullying a Bully

Fighting is a brutal business. There is no denying it. A man in a fight is very busy. He must meditate concerning methods. He must inflict considerable punishment and do it promptly.

Because fighting is brutal and tends to disarrange the face and burden emergency wards already taxed to their capacity, it should be avoided when convenient, argues a writer in the Kansas City Star.

One way to avoid it is not to seem too eager to avoid it. Men who are afraid to fight have trouble thrust upon them. Of those who are afraid very few are craven by reason of wounds; excessive caution is caused by want of experience. Ignorance is the father of fear.

A boy of tender years, being a primitive, has frequent occasion to do battle. If parental authority denies him the privilege of gaining experience in this way he will bear no scars; but he will develop into a man afraid of a fight. If he is privileged to fight when the need is urgent he may not be so fortunate as to triumph; but even if he is whipped he will profit. He will learn that a whipping is the lesser of two evils and that to receive bruises is less painful than to be a coward. If he is whipped he can regain his self-respect, but he never will be able wholly to forgive himself if he runs.

If he is denied experience of battle manhood will find him handicapped. Before a blustering bully he will talk small and surrender his privileges and rights.

But if he has fought often and therefore feels no dread of combat he will get to his feet in preparation for battle and before the cold light in his eyes the bully will become calm and placid.

The bully may have an uncontrollable temper, but tempers of this kind usually function best when the odds are on their side. They peter out quickly in the face of an adversary who has a knockout in both hands and means business.

"Banking" System Old

The Roman emperors lent money upon land. The lending of money on the security of movable articles, which were said to be pledged, became common in European countries during the Fifteenth century. Out of this grew the system known as pawnbroking, which was specially regulated in England in 1756, and 27 years later the business of pawnbroking was licensed.

Floor Gives House Fame

Many buildings in Europe have become famous for a minor detail of architecture, but Stornaway house, England, recently bought by Lord Beaverbrook, is famous for its floor. This floor is said to be the finest ballroom dancing surface in the entire world.

Lowering Herself

"Since Ethel married she has stopped wearing French heels; her husband disapproves of them."
"I always said she's lower herself by marrying that man."—Tit-Bits.

Visitors in Switzerland

So greatly does Switzerland depend on its visitors that the revival last season of tourist traffic brought a glow of prosperity to the entire country.

World's Earliest Banks

The earliest banks on record were the national temples, such as Delphi and Delos in Greece. The money they received in deposit they loaned out at rates of interest varying from 10 to 80 per cent per year. Private bankers were first heard of in Babylon in the time of Nebuchadnezzar about 600 B. C. Theocris, Tacitus and Suetonius all allude to the existence of banks in their histories.

Reserves of Coal

In estimating coal in reserve it is usual to figure that in a vein of coal one foot thick there would be 1,800 tons under an acre. In a vein three feet thick it would amount to 5,400 tons. About one-third is estimated as wasteage, therefore, mined, it would amount to 3,600 tons. The amount might be some less or possibly more.

Must Radiate Heat

Even if a man could breathe, he could not live if his body were unable to radiate heat, says the bureau of mines after extensive experiments.

Did You Ever Notice That They All Ride In Automobiles?

The ownership of an automobile today is recognized as a sign of success. The successful people in business and in the crafts and professions ride in motor cars.

It is quite often true that they achieved a large measure of their success after they got the car; in fact the car was the one thing needful to assure success through its time-saving, health-bringing, confidence-inspiring attributes.

The man who says "I will buy a car if I make some money this season" is not likely to succeed so fast as the man who says "I will buy a car now and make more money this year."

PARENT-TEACHERS

Association Held Interesting Meeting
At Pickaway Township School
Friday.

Dr. Jackson, program chairman of the Parent-Teachers' Association of the Pickaway Tp. school, gave the members a rare treat Friday afternoon by bringing to them Dr. Howard Jones of this city.

The Dr. who is full of Indian lore and a defender of this race, destined to become extinct, is able to make his hearers see the virtues of the Red Man; to realize the most heinous crimes attributed to them were participated in by the white man; to see our first prohibitionists, our religion, our present form of government, although in a crude state, existing and adhered to loyally by our dusky predecessors.

Mrs. Charles Kiger led in the devotionals and a reading was given by Miss Lucile Clifton, of Columbus. Appropriate music for the occasion was furnished by an orchestra directed by Miss Nina Marie Allen, Miss Winona Lanman, Miss Ruth McKenzie and Mrs. Ralph Boggs.

The membership captains, Mrs. Pierce and Mrs. Wilkins reported 133 members, Mrs. Wilkins' side winning.

In response to a call made to the various associations throughout the state, the president, Mrs. J. L. Young has planned for the school to hear the speeches broadcasted from O. S. U. on Arbor Day. This will be made possible through the courtesy of Mr. Mack Noggle, of this city.

"Super-Plates" Needed

The need for photographic plates and films of a quality higher even than their present high standard was emphasized at the third Pan-American scientific congress by Dr. C. D. Perrine, of the Argentine National observatory at Cordoba. As applied to the special problems of astronomy, plates of a higher speed than those now available would make existing telescopes the equivalent of instruments of twice their size and many times their cost, because it would increase their light-gathering power. He also pointed out the need for the elimination of "graininess" in photographic negatives designed for technical work of extreme accuracy. He advocated special research for the purpose of producing such photographic "super-plates."

Sight as a Handicap

Amos Cady, of Bolivar, Mo., could play six instruments simultaneously while he was blind, but now that he has regained his sight can only play one. He was blind 22 years. He played a harmonica held to his mouth with a yoke, a banjo with his hands, a bass drum beaten with his elbow, cymbals struck with his knees, a triangle and eight Swiss bells rung by his feet. His inability to play more than one instrument now is explained by the fact that he cannot concentrate sufficiently to play six because the acute sensitiveness of touch and feeling that comes with blindness left when his sight was restored. —Indianapolis News.

TRIMMINGS CLIMB TO THE TOP OF SPORT HATS

In line and in details of trimming the hats knitted of woolen yarn reflect the vogue for simple smart shapes and for decoration placed to give added height to the wearer. Sectional crowns, pompons, topping the crown or placed to one side, brims slightly rolled and the fashionable turban are certain of the new fashion tendencies. They have been incorporated into the latest models of hand knitted sport hats.

Spent Six Years on Novel

Gustave Flaubert, leader of the French realistic school of writers, spent six years in writing his novel "Madame Bovary." Its publication in 1857 laid him open to accusations of immorality, from which he was cleared.

APPAREL FOR WOMEN

"What is her home like?"

It's a question women ask of each other at the club, at the theater, at the luncheon.

"Oh, so---so," with the faintest shrug of the shoulders.

Or perhaps, "Why, nice enough,"---with just a little hesitation, "er---nothing unusual, though."

But, sometimes, the reply is:

"Simply beautiful. Not elaborate, but such good taste."

How much it means socially, a beautiful home.

How much it counts, that impression the guests carries away.

What a world of difference between the ordinary, and the home with a tone of distinction.

Origin of Football

However ancient their origins most of our popular games date back only to the athletic revival of the Nineteenth century. As an instance, football. Not till the foundation of the football association in 1863 and the Rugby Football union in 1871 can the two games we know today be said to have taken legal shape. During the Seventeenth century, probably owing to the Puritan movement, football declined in town and country.

Electricity in Homes

Electricity is now used in half the homes of the United States. From figures for January 1, 1925, it is estimated that the total population of the country is 113,800,000 people and the total number of homes 23,200,889. Also on this date there were 13,252,983 homes wired for electric service. Thus 56.4 per cent of the homes of the nation are now able to enjoy the comfort and convenience of electricity.

DASHED HER HOPES

The young man produced a small square box from his pocket.

"My dear," he said, "I have a birthday present for you. I don't know whether it will fit your finger or not, but I'll—"

"Oh, Jack!" she interrupted, blushing vividly. "Why, I never even thought—"

Then he opened the box and produced a silver thimble, and the room became suddenly cooler.

BISHOP POLK WAS KILLED BY OHIO MEN

Edwin Newton Was Guarding Battery and Stood by Gun that Fired Shot.

In "short stories of the Buckeye State, in the Columbus Dispatch, J. H. Galbraith relates the interesting narrative given below.

Mr. Galbraith says:

"The Fifteenth Ohio Battery organized in the four Western Reserve counties of Trumbull, Ashtabula, Cuyahoga and Lorain, claimed that the noted Confederate General Leonidas Polk fell under the fire of its guns. It was during the Atlanta campaign, and with General Johnston, Polk who was a Protestant Episcopal bishop in civil life, was reconnoitering on Pine Mountain, was reconnoitering on Pine Mountain's lines.

"General Sherman in his 'Memoirs' speaks of the matter and says he every clearly made out the Confederates and directed 'a battery near by' to fire upon the party, but the commandant reminded him that there was an order to conserve battery ammunition. But Sherman directed that three volleys be fired by the battery, which was done. General Sherman gave it as his opinion that it was a shot in the second volley that killed Bishop Polk.

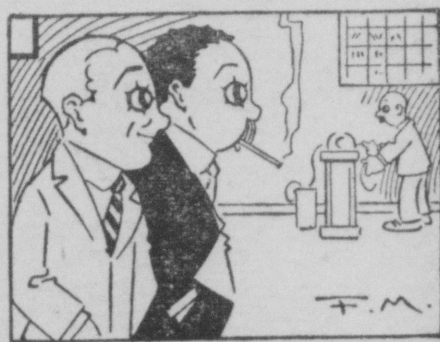

"But an Illinois battery claims to have caused the death of General Polk and the matter has been much in dispute. Major General Walter Q. Gresham, afterward postmaster general and secretary of state, then in command of the fourth division of McPherson's corps, gave it as his opinion that the Fifteenth Ohio battery ended the career of Polk. And, Gresham was not an Ohio man. He stated that his opinion was based largely on conversation at the time with General McPherson, who was killed long before the dispute arose. General Sherman first heard that General Polk had been killed thru a signal officer who read the Confederate signals calling for an ambulance for General Polk.

A very unusual story is carried in the history of the battery, of an incident at the engagement at the Chattahoochee river. A little bird flew upon the shoulder of Private Seth Bowers, who was acting as No. 1 at one of the cannon. At each discharge of the piece it would bury its head in his hair, then resume its place on his shoulder, watching the loading operation. The bird remained about the men's headquarters for several days after the battle and then disappeared.

Bowers, who gave his age as 22 when he was mustered in, in January, 1862, was mustered out with the battery without a casualty in 1865."

Edwin Newton, of Ashville, was on duty at the time, guarding the battery and was standing by the gun when it fired the shot that killed General Polk.
